

1. You ("the person submitting the paper") hereby grant the University of Exeter ("Us") an irrevocable worldwide, royalty-free, non-exclusive licence with a right to sub-license to use Your, work (including the right to edit, modify, adapt or translate Your work) in whatever medium for the presentation of Your work at the International Conference on Flood Resilience (ICFR) including oral presentation and/or poster exhibit; conference proceedings, incorporation into a digital worldwide non-commercial publication, whether displayed or distributed via a conference web-site, USB sticks or otherwise for the duration of copyright in the work.
2. We have no obligation to enter or include all or any of a work submitted by You for the purpose of the ICFR, the conference proceedings, other publication or the web-site.
3. We only review work for suitability for entry to and relevance to the scope of the ICFR. Any copyright violations in and any breaches of any confidentiality obligations arising from submission to Us of the work are entirely Your responsibility. However, if We believe that any work may create liability for Us, We may decline entry of the work and/or remove such work from the conference proceedings, conference web-site and other materials.
4. We will seek to credit You as the author of the work as appropriate, but will not be liable for any failure to do so. You waive as far as You can any moral rights (if any) which may have arisen in the work.
5. You warrant that:
 - 5.1 the work describes genuine research or review work and is Your original work (save for material covered by clause 5.2), that You have not assigned or exclusively licensed any of the work to a third party and that You have the right to grant the rights contained in this licence;
 - 5.2 if the work contains material of which You are not the copyright owner, you have obtained the unrestricted permission of the copyright owner(s) to grant Us the rights contained in this licence and that such third party owned material is clearly identified and acknowledged within the text or content of the work;
 - 5.3 the work does not and will not to the best of Your knowledge and belief infringe any third party's intellectual property rights, other proprietary rights or rights of publicity or privacy and the work is not and will not be subject to any publisher's embargo;
 - 5.4 if the work has arisen from a project sponsored or supported by an agency or organisation other than Us, You have fulfilled any right of review or other obligations required by such contract or arrangement; and
 - 5.5 the work does not and will not contain third party confidential information which You do not have permission to disclose, is not and will not be defamatory or libellous.
6. We retain all intellectual property rights in the web-site and any work created by editing, modification, adaptation or translation or the work in any media. Nothing in this licence shall be taken to grant any rights to You in respect of such intellectual property. Any and all visitor data (such as name, address and e-mail address) that is collected through any user registration process or otherwise shall be owned by Us.